TWENTY-ONE ARE KILLED IN MINE

Explosion Occurs in Colliery at Sykesville, Pa.

DEATH DUE TO AFTERDAMP

Small Damage Done to the Mine Shows the Blast Was a Comparatively Light One, but the Poisonous Gases Immediately Following Overcome the Workers Before They Could Escape or Assistance Reach Them.

Dubois, Pa., July 17.—Twenty-one miners were killed in an explosion in the shaft of the Cascade Coal and Coke company's mine at Skyesville, nine miles from here.

All the dead but three are foreigners. The explosion was slight as evidenced by the small damage done in the mine, but the deadly afterdamp is responsible for most of the deaths.

Three sets of brothers and a father and son are numbered among the dead. George and John Heek and Nick Pavelick and his fifteen-year-old son were found by the rescuers locked in each others' arms as though they embraced each other in their dying moments. None of the bodies was mutilated and only a few showed burns.

Eleven of the men in one heading had apparently made ready to escape for they carried their dinner pails and were headed for the opening.

The first intimation of the explosion, at the surface, was when the safety door on the fan blew open and the machinery began to run wild.

It took some time to get to the scene of the accident, a mile and a half from the opening, because the rescuers were obliged to carry oxygen with them.

The state police from Punxsutawney were called to police the vicinity of the shaft and when the bodies were brought out there was little distress or excitement.

Neither mine officials nor mine inspectors are able to assign a cause for the explosion as there are no survivors from whom to gain an explanation, but it is the general belief that some of the men drilled into a packet of gas.

The shaft is known as a nongaseous one and Fire Boss John Brown reports he was through the heading where the explosion occurred but an hour before and found no traces of gas.

Six men working in another heading of the mine at the time of the accident knew nothing of the explosion until the compressed air stopped their drills and one man was knocked from his rock drill. They realized something had happened, but did not know the nature of it until they met a party of rescuers coming for them.

When the rescue car of the bureau of mines arrived here its services were not needed as all the men were dead and the air in the mine had been cleared.

FATHER DIES WITH CHILDREN

Drowns in Effort to Save Their Lives.

St. Louis, July 17.—Frank Ducierville, forty-one years old, drowned with his son and daughter, Thomas and Mary, three and thirteen years old, respectively, while a crowd on the Mississippi river bank restrained the wife and mother, who tried to leap in after the struggling trio.

Mrs. Ducierville, with the children, joined her husband at his post shortly after noon. While the parents partook of luncheon, seated on the river bank, the children were allowed to sit in a skiff. The boy, unmindful of the father's caution to remain seated, stood up in the boat and overturned it.

The father dove in where the children were seen to go down and he reappeared on the surface for an instant with one of the children in either arm, but, thus handicapped, was unable to swim with them and was drowned before others who sought to aid them could get to them.

ONE THOUSAND IN PANIC

None Fatally Hurt When Amusement Park Is Destroyed.

Columbus, O., July 17.—Seven buildings which housed places of amusement were destroyed and probably 1,000 persons were thrown into a panic by fire in Olentangy park, a summer resort. The fire swept district extended over an area about the size of a city block. The park is located at the extreme north end of the city.

Several persons were injured in the panic, but it is not believed any fatalities resulted.

Defective wiring in one of the buildings is believed to have been the cause, the inflammable material feeding the flames and causing them to spread with great rapidity.

KITCHENER GOES TO EGYPT

British Field Marchal Named to Succeed Sir Eldon Gorst.

London, July 17.—Official announcement was made that Field Marshal Lord Kitchener has been appointed British agent to Egypt. He succeeds Sir Eldon Gorst, who died on July 12

LAUNCH BOOM FOR GARFIELD

Progressives Will Put Ohio Man in Field Against Taft.

REFUSES TO AFFIRM OR DENY

Former Secretary of the Interior Is in Washington as Guest of Gifford Pinchot and Declines to Comment on the Possibility of His Entering the Presidential Race—Is Apparently Busy Studying the Political Outlook.

Washington, July 17.—A boom for James R. Garfield of Ohio, secretary of the interior under the Roosevelt administration, for the nomination for president, was launched by Republican progressives here. The Garfield movement is intended as a direct challenge to President Taft by the faction of the Republican party which seemingly is unalterably opposed to the renomination of the president.

The fact that the Republican progressives, headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette, are considering the advisability of uniting their forces behind Garfield to make an anti-Taft fight in Ohio was announced without qualification by the Washington Times.

Of far more significance, however, is the fact that Garfield, who is a guest here of Gifford Pinchot, refused to enter a denial or make any comment upon the article. After reading the article suggesting him as a possible candidate against President Taft and setting forth that the fight against the renomination of the president would be carried under his name into the home state of the president Garfield said: "I have made no statement. Further, I have nothing to say at this time."

It is understood that Garfield had advance information that the talk of himself in connection with the presidential nomination was to be made public. Gifford Pinchot had full knowledge of the article before its publication. Garfield came here, he states, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, wife of Charles D. Walcott, curator of the National museum. His coming was kept as quiet as possible.

During the two days he has been here Garfield has been engaged largely in discussing the political outlook with reference to President Taft in general, but more particularly with regard to recent developments in the Alaskan controversy involving Attorney General Wickersham along with the effort to oust Dr. Wiley, government pure food expert, whose dismissal the attorney general has recommended.

Garfield admits that the developments of the past week with regard to the Guggenheim operations in Alaska and the attack upon Dr. Wiley will have a potent effect upon the political future of the president.

OBSCURES WILEY CHARGES

Cloud of Attacks on Attorney General Wickersham.

Washington, July 17.—Charges against Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the government's pure food expert, are at present almost obscured by a cloud of attacks and charges against President Taft's attorney general, George W. Wickersham.

Wickersham's approval of the findings in the Wiley case and the recommendation that the doctor "be permitted to resign" have precipitated one of the most determined attacks on a cabinet officer that have been made during the Taft administration.

The president's friends are worried about the effects of it. Many of them for a long time have regarded Wickersham as one of the unfortunate assets of the administration. They say that he had done nothing to add to the president's popularity, but rather the reverse.

FEDERAL DEALS WITH TRUSTS

Wickersham Decides Government May Buy From Combinations.

Washington, July 17.—Attorney General Wickersham has decided that it is not unlawful for the United States to deal with the corporations recently declared by the supreme court of the United States to be illegal combinations. The question came up in connection with contracts awarded to the Standard Oil for a year's supply of oil and gasoline for the military department of the East. The attorney general holds that the corporations declared illegal combinations are so only in restriction of trade. The sale of materials by the corporations is not in itself illegal.

Averts Customs House Raid.

Juarez, Mex., July 17.—A raid of the customs house by former insurrectos for the maintenance of the federal military hospital was averted by the receipt of 3,500 pesos telegraphed from Mexico City.

SAYS ALL TRUSTS ARE BAD

Only Good Ones Are Dead, Declares J. H. Wilkerson.

Chicago, July 17.—James H. Wilkerson, special counsel for the United States government in the important trust cases that have been heard in this district in the last few years and expected successor to United States District Attorney Sims, declared that the only good trust is a dead one.

Scheduled to speak at the annual banquet of the Beta Chi law fraternity on "Good Trusts vs. Bad Trusts," Mr Wilkerson took exception to the designation of any trusts as good, declaring that the topic obviously was not to be taken seriously.

"Strictly speaking," he stated, "there is no such thing as a good trust. Like the Indian, the only good one is a dead one."

NEW YORK FEARS CHOLERA INVASION

Fifteen Patients in Hospital and Four Under Suspicion.

New York, July 17.—Although the cholera situation at Quarantine is at present regarded by Dr. Alvah H. Doty, health officer of the port, as being well in hand he did not conceal his apprehension that New York is "in the very midst of a threatened invasion of cholera." Furthermore, Dr. Doty said: "The quarantine department of every port in this country is facing a very serious and onerous task during the summer," and it is not improbable that many vessels arriving from Italy in the next few weeks will bring one or more cases of the disease.

The official report of the situation shows there are fifteen cases at Swineburne Island hospital and four cases symptomatic of the disease. Within the past twenty-four hours one more victim has died. The steamer Perugia has been detained and the medical staff is preparing to make bacteriological examinations of 248 persons from the steamer Moltke, who are now under observation.

It is possible Governor Dix will be called upon to take charge at Quarantine.

BLUE AND GRAY FRATERNIZE

Reunion Marks Fiftieth Anniversary of Bull Run.

Manassas, Va., July 17.—A week's reunion of Federal and Confederate veterans was begun here when Rev. H. N. Couden, chaplain of the house of representatives, preached a peace jubilee sermon before more than 1,000 persons. The reunion marks the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Bull Run.

The special feature of the celebration is to take place Friday when, in the presence of President Taft and Governor Mann of Virginia, the Confederate and Union veterans will march across the historic grounds and clasp hands in token of everlasting peace.

The town is aflutter with intertwined Confederate and United States flags.

OPPOSES THE TRADE PACT

Premier of Ontario Thinks Canada Gets Short End.

New York, July 17.—"I am and always have been opposed to reciprocity and I am sanguine that when the people of Canada look carefully into the matter they will oppose it."

So said Hon. James Pliney Whitney, prime minister of Ontario, who arrived here, homeward bound from the coronation.

Bolt Kills Federal Official.

Washington, July 17.—Before the eyes of scores of society women and men well known in official life and almost within a stone's throw of the Chicy Chase clubhouse J. B. Johnson of New York, recently appointed solicitor of the navy department, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Johnson had been playing golf with a companion and was in the open.

INDEPENDENCE FOR FILIPINOS?

Democrats May Declare For Giving Freedom to Islands.

CHANGE IN THE SENTIMENT.

Proposition Made In 1900 Has Become More Popular—Champ Clark Has Never Been In Favor of Permanent Retention of Eastern Possessions. Democrats to Settle Parcels Post.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 17.—[Special.]—Although the Democrats have not yet determined anything like a program for the regular session of congress, it would not be strange if independence of the Philippines should be pressed as a party measure. Back in 1900 the Democrats declared for Filipino independence in their platform, but that was too soon after the Spanish war and the acquisition of the islands to be popular.

Now the country begins to realize that the islands are a source of weakness, and it may be that provision for their independence will prove more popular. At all events, there is a decided feeling among many Democrats that they ought to take that stand.

Champ Clark never has been for the retention of the islands permanently, but as to whether he believes that this is a proper time to agitate separation is not known.

Democrats Must Decide.

"The Democrats must decide the question of a parcels post," asserts Congressman Burleson of Texas. "It is up to us to say whether we will establish the parcels post or not. Our opponents have taken no action, and we have taunted them with dodging. We must go to the front and either vote to establish it as a part of our governmental system or defeat it and end the discussion.

"For that reason I have introduced resolutions seeking all possible information on the subject of carrying parcels which the interstate commerce commission will furnish in time for legislation next session."

The Persistent Meyer.

For forty years there was a struggle to establish postal savings banks. Only the persistency of George von L. Meyer when postmaster general made it possible to pass the law. If a parcels post should be established it will be due to the manner in which Meyer set the movement on foot.

But Meyer is now "up against" the hardest job he ever tackled. He wants to abolish useless navy yards, consolidate ship repairing and otherwise bring about economy in the naval establishment. To abolish the yards means that money will not be spent where the yards are now located.

Congressmen who represent districts which will be thus affected are preparing to fight, and Meyer will find that all his persistence, backed by the best naval authority, will be necessary to reduce the navy yards to an efficient and economic number.

Doesn't Like Publicity.

"I always shudder when I see my name in print," remarked Alvey A. Adee, second assistant secretary of the state department, and yet he often has occasion to shudder. He makes a tour of some portion of Europe every year on a bicycle. He returns home at the hottest period of the summer and takes charge of the state department, as all the other secretaries can afford to go away for the summer.

Adee generally has many complications to handle. The disturbing elements in the southern republics, in China and elsewhere on the globe seem to take the hot season for "raising Cain," and American interests demand diplomatic management by our state department. Then it is that the second assistant secretary of the state department fills the public eye and gets that printed fame he dislikes.

Thornton Was Personal.

"The leonine senator from Idaho" is the way Senator Thornton spoke of Senator Borah. The Louisiana senator did not transgress the rules of the senate, but it is not very often that senators get quite so personal.

Enjoyed by Newlands.

The bit of a boom which has been given Senator Newlands for the presidency is thoroughly enjoyed by the Nevada senator. He is not inclined to stifle talk about his prospects and is willing that publicity shall be given to everything favorable to his candidacy. It has been suggested that the Pacific coast states are quite likely to send delegations favorable to Newlands.

If this keeps up we will have plenty of men from which the Democrats can make their selection next year. There is no reason why every state should not have a favorite son, or, like Missouri, have two willing candidates. At present there are Harmon, Wilson, Folk, Clark, Dix, Hoke Smith, Marshall and Newlands ready to be drafted by the Democrats.

"Why Don't You Go Home?"

Senators are getting letters which ask why they don't vote and go home. "I received twenty letters one morning," said Senator Curtis of Kansas, "asking why we did not vote and go home. All of the writers were against reciprocity, but they thought we ought to dispose of the bill one way or another."

Good Maxims.

Good maxims are germs of all good; firmly impressed on the memory, they nourish the will.—Joubert.

LORD CAMOYS WINS HEIRESS

Engaged to Miss Mildred W. Sherman of New York.

New York, July 17.—Announcement has been made in London of the engagement of Miss Mildred Watts Sherman, one of the richest and most beautiful girls in New York and Newport society, and Lord Camoys, a young peer of England, who came to America for the first time last winter to act as an usher at the wedding of Lord Decies and Miss Vivien Gould.

Miss Sherman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Watts Sherman of this city. She and her elder sister Irene, who married Lawrence L. Gillespie, were known as the two most beautiful heiresses in America.

AERONAUT PLUNGES INTO ATLANTIC OCEAN

Chance Plank Enables Him to Reach Shore Safely.

Asbury, Pa., July 17.—A. J. Roberts, an aeronaut, who started in a dirigible balloon from New York for Philadelphia, was found unconscious on the beach near Deal, N. J.

When revived he said that in the night he was forced to pull the rip cord of his gas bag when his gasoline gave out and he found he was being carried out to sea. He dropped into the ocean half a mile from shore and by the aid of a chance plank he swam or floated ashore. The dirigible was swept off shore by the wind.

Roberts had made a landing about twelve or fifteen miles from New York and had made another ascension when his dirigible was struck by a squall and driven out over the ocean. His troubles were augmented by a fog, which caused the gas in the bag to cool. The dirigible finally trailed in the water, but by throwing out ballast Roberts managed to work it in shore.

Then he found his gasoline failing. He pulled the rip cord and presently dropped into the waves. He came across the plank while swimming about, trying to get his bearings. Even with this aid he became exhausted and thinks he must have floated ashore unconscious.

POSTAL BANKS IN BIG CITIES

Washington, July 17.—Postmaster General Hitchcock designated the main postoffices in New York, Chicago, Boston and St. Louis as postal savings depositories. They will begin to receive deposits Aug. 1.

Having installed successfully more than 1,000 postal savings banks in second class postoffices Mr. Hitchcock decided to extend it to some of the first class offices. The four cities were named because of their great population and commercial prominence and because in each one is located a United State subtreasury which will facilitate the heavy banking business that is likely to result from postal saving transactions.

Physician Found Guilty.

Langdon, N. D., July 17.—Dr. James J. Reilly of Milton, N. D., will serve ten years in the North Dakota penitentiary if the recommendation of the jury that reported a verdict of guilty is made effective. The jury finds that Dr. Reilly is guilty of the charge of murder in the second degree, in performing a criminal operation, and it recommends that a ten-year sentence be given him.

Dog Tears Body of Child.

Peoria, Ill., July 17.—While visiting at his aunt's home Raymond Stevens, four years old, of Chicago, was torn almost to death by a bulldog. His head and body were lacerated. The boy is at a hospital. Mrs. Stevens pushed her arm in the dog's mouth and also was wounded.

Three Drown in Lake Michigan.

Milwaukee, July 17.—Three Cudahy young people lost their lives by drowning when the rowboat in which they were enjoying an afternoon's pleasure trip capsized about a mile out in Lake Michigan, opposite the Cudahy pumping station.

MAY UNEARTH PLUNDER PLOTS

Two Arrests Follow Murder of Minneapolis Policeman.

OFFICERS CLAIM CONFESSION

County Attorney Said to Be In Possession of Information Which Will Bring to Light One of the Greatest Schemes to Burglarize Ever Known in Northwest—One of the Men Held Is Alleged to Have Been the "Brains" of the Gang.

Minneapolis, July 17.—County Attorney Robertson of Hennepin county procured a confession, it is said by police officials, from Arthur N. Denson, which, if true, may result in the unearthing of one of the greatest plots to plunder ever brought to the attention of authorities in the Northwest. He accuses one man, now under arrest, of having been the plan deviser and Jerry McCarthy, killed in a pistol encounter with Patrolman Olinger, of being the executor. He does not spare himself, say the police, asserting that he assisted in various ways in carrying out the scheme of robbery.

Fred Briggs, who, he alleges, was the "brains" of the organization, walked into Minneapolis police headquarters and gave himself up. He said he had learned detectives were looking for him. For several days he had been under suspicion and following the shooting of Patrolman Olinger the authorities were anxious to arrest him. He is "held" at central station. Denson is booked in similar manner.

Briggs is well known in Minneapolis as "a man about town." During the administration of Mayor Ames he was editor of the News Letter. He was once sent to the workhouse for operating slot machines.

It was Briggs who introduced McCarthy to Patrolman Olinger several days ago by the name of Thomas Nolan, said Denson in his confession, the police aver. Briggs is also said to have boasted that when McCarthy and Peter Juhl escaped from the Minnesota state penitentiary at Stillwater last March they came directly to him. He gave them clothing, it is said, and $50 with which to leave Minneapolis.

According to Denson it was Briggs who planned to rob the Central state bank, out of which alleged plot grew the killing of Patrolman Olinger. After introducing McCarthy to the officer Briggs dismissed himself and allowed the bandit to negotiate with the patrolman the proposition to go in with him on the robbery, the confession alleges. In order to share in the stolen money Olinger was to remain off his beat and not disturb operations. McCarthy said that the robbery would occur the night of July 24. On this date the Soo railroad deposits each month about $35,000 in the bank for the paying off of employes.

The patrolman said he would think the matter over and let McCarthy know in a few days. The latter explained to the officer, according to Denson, how easy the "job" would be. Denson was to drive around in his automobile and make off with the money. Later all concerned would meet and the proceeds of the night's work would be divided.

Patrolman Olinger reported the conversation with McCarthy to the captain of the East Side station, who in turn repeated it to Chief of Police Mealey.

OFFICER AND BANDIT FIGHT

Minneapolis Policeman and Desperado Killed in Duel.

Minneapolis, July 17.—Jerry McCarthy, bank robber, highwayman and escaped convict, was shot and killed by Patrolman Joseph J. Olinger, who died one hour later with six of the outlaw's bullets in his body. At arm's length from one another the officer of the law and the fugitive of the law emptied their revolvers into one another in the doubly fatal pistol duel which took place on the sidewalk at Twenty-fifth street northeast and Central avenue.

The pistol duel took place at the rear of the store occupied by the Pioneer Drug company, the door of which had been tried by McCarthy just as the shop was closing up.

The shooting, which apparently followed after the men had closed in on each other, was done, evidently, while the officer was wrestling with his man on the sidewalk. Both Patrolman Olinger and McCarthy, known as a desperado, were powerful men, each weighing more than 200 pounds.

CRIPPLE KILLS RELATIVE

Tragedy Is Culmination of a Family Quarrel.

Indianapolis, July 17.—While his wife lay at the point of death in an adjoining room Victor R. Easterday, forty-two years old, a saloonkeeper, was shot to death by his brother-in-law, Harry C. Gordon, a cripple. Gordon appeared in police headquarters and was locked up on a charge of murder.

The shooting occurred in the Easterday home and was witnessed by Art Adams, a neighbor and former policeman. The shooting is said to have been the result of a family quarrel of long standing.

Mrs. Easterday is not expected to live and has not been told of the murder of her husband.

NEGRO WOMEN WANT TO VOTE

Milwaukee Has First Colored "Woman's Suffrage League."

Milwaukee, July 17.—The first Woman's Suffrage league among the colored people of Wisconsin was formed in St. Mark's African Methodist church. The membership of twenty-four is about evenly divided between men and women and embraces the leaders of Milwaukee colored people.

Miss Mabel Judd, one of the Political Equality league organizers, made the opening address, after a short prayer by Rev. Ray Reed of Duluth. Miss Carrie Horton, formerly a voter in Colorado, was made president, Miss Marie Burgette vice president and Miss Lucile Jackson secretary. After the organization was effected Mrs. Collett Kinner, president of the Woman's Improvement club, a colored organization, suggested that, as a number of men were present, it would be courteous to ask them to join. Mrs. Kinner put the suggestion and it was unanimously adopted. Thereupon the men present joined.

Twenty thousand men are wanted in the harvest fields of the northwest. After you hand the next applicant for a handout his breakfast, it might be well to inform him that there is work in the land for those who want it.

A state farm for hobos is to be established in New York, the legislature having appropriated the money with which to establish the institution. We will bet the state will have to hire the help to run the farm if there are any crops raised.

Representative Congdon, of Duluth, the champion of reapportionment in the last session, is of the opinion that there is no prospect for the passage of a reapportionment bill until 1917. That is a long time for the people of Northern Minnesota to wait for their rights.

The county attorney of Lake county has been suspended by the governor until the charges that the man holding the position of chief legal advisor to that commonwealth is not a lawyer, was never admitted to the bar, has been indicted, and that he is wanting in that fine moral sense which should characterize a county attorney, are cleared up.

If the flogging of boys and girls was carried on at the Red Wing training schools to the extent that the evidence would indicate it is time there was a change in that institution. Especially is the treatment of girls in the maner indicated disgusting even though they were incorrigible. Other methods of correction more in the line of human treatment is available.

What was supposed to have been a speech against the Canadian reciprocity pact by LaFollette and by which much information was looked for in the arguments which the Wisconsin statesman was supposed to produce against the measures turns out to have been a bitter attack upon President Taft whom LaFollette will oppose for the presidential nomination in 1912. It is understood that the warmest friends of the so-called progressive candidate are sadly disappointed at his tactics.

A great many protests are coming in to the treasury department of the United States regarding the vile and filthy condition of the paper money in circulation, and some people even go so far as to state that they will refuse to handle it unless it is laundried. The department has taken the matter up and a washing machine has been installed that will do out the weekly wash of $5, $10, $100 and $1,000 bills and make them look crisp and new. In the meantime if any of the subscribers to this paper are hanging back with their subscription with the idea that paper money will not be accepted until it has been laundried they may disabuse themselves at once. Microbes on money never did bother us in the least.

Cash Sprague, the genial Sauk Centre banker, is laying his plans to become the presiding officer of the state senate at the next election. This probably is with the idea or understanding that Lieutenant Governor Gordon will cross swords with Gov. Eberhart for the gubernatorial nomination and will not seek the position he now holds. Sprague was a candidate before the republican convention for the position last year but was distanced by the present incumbent and he will use the prestige he then attained to further his candidacy. Gordon's boom which was started some time ago did not reach much further than the confines of the local paper at Chisholm but that is no reason why the fire started will not be fanned into a flame later on, and if it is encouragement that Gordon is looking for in order to get out and hustle there will be no lack of that, sincere or otherwise, for there are always disgruntled ones who will find an excuse to show the aspiring candidate how he can land. There will be some ginger in the next campaign, both local, state and national.

BASEBALL PARK IMPROVEMENTS

W. Koering Has the Koering Field and Grandtsand in First Class Shape

FENCE NEARLY ENCLOSES IT

Grandstand is Built of Oak Plank and Supports Seating About 625 People

Keeping pace with the interested enthusiasm for good baseball is C. V. Koering, of Northeast Brainerd, who at a cost of over $850 has built a modern grandstand and laid out a fine baseball field at the ravine near the East Brainerd bridge. An eight foot fence encloses all the grounds except a small stretch to the north which is bounded by a barb wire fence. Trees and brush have been cut down to the north to increase the scenic effects and give the visitor a clear and unobstructed view of the cemetery and its pretty location.

The meadow has been grubbed out and the field offers no obstructions to the fielder running backwards. Near the grandstand is a second fence four feet high serving to keep visitors off this part of the field.

The grandstand is roofed over and is built of oak planks and supports all firmly braced together. At yesterday's game about 70 people sat on each line of seats and there being nine of these rows the stand held approximately 630 people.

Two ticket offices have been erected by Mr. Koering, one at the west and one at the east end of the grounds. A small building used for a refreshment stand has been moved near the grandstand.

This week Mr. Koering will continue hauling clay on the diamond and leveling it and giving it a hard surface. There is one improvement which should be placed in and which Mr. Koering said he would soon erect. That is a good score board placed near left field on which can be chalked up the runs as they are made in each inning. Taking it all together Brainerd now has the best field and team and the most enthusiasm apparent in the entire baseball history of the town.

MONEY FOR LIQUOR SUPPRESSION

Pussyfoot Johnson in Washington Says There is Only Temporary Suspension of Activity

"Pussyfoot" Johnson, of Indian lid fame, is in Washington making final reports, and winding up field work for the present fiscal year. He is much interested in the sensational arrests recently made in Northern Minnesota and believes that the local officers have unearthed a bad gang. Speaking of his work, he said:

"We will have just as much money next year as we had last year to suppress the liquor traffic among the Indians. There is a temporary suspension of activity in Minnesota, pending final decisions of the supreme court on Judge Willard's order in the Bemidji saloon cases. If that territory is held to be subject to federal supervision, it is quite certain that there will be a permanent lid so far as Indians are concerned. We had a hard fight in Minnesota and went against some desperate situations."

SEWER DIGGERS NEAR BROADWAY

Pastoret-Lawrence Co., of Duluth, Making Good Headway With Laurel Street Sewer

25 MEN ARE NOW EMPLOYED

Sections of the Sewer Pipe are Two Feet Long and Weigh 200 Pounds—Cemented in Place

The Pastoret-Lawrence Co., of Duluth, has now reached a point at the corner of Broadway and Laurel with its Laurel street sewer. Digging is in progress here. The sewer follows the center of the street and the prosecution of the work does not materially block traffic. Sewer pipe has been laid from the swamp to a point near Seventh street.

In charge of the diggers is Angelo Corelli, of Duluth, and he has 25 men in his employ. They maintain a camp along the M. & I. tracks near the cemetery. So far no trouble has been experienced in the work of excavation and consequently everything is proceeding as estimated by the contractors. The sections of 18 inch sewer pipe are two feet long and weigh 200 pounds. They are lowered into position in the trench by block and tackle. Most of this material is shipped in from Indiana.

Mr. Pastoret was in Brainerd Saturday and inspected the work done and was pleased with the progress made. A. M. Anderson, of Duluth, is the timekeeper and Henry Brundrett is acting as inspector of the work done.

At a time when a feeling of intense depression had settled upon music loving Brainerd and it was being heralded about the country that the city was to have no more concerts, comes the glad tiding that Aldermen C. B. Rowley and Archie Purdy have sprung into the breech and will repair the band stand which Father Time had rendered unsafe. It is said the stand will be ready for the regular weekly concert this Wednesday.

Should it rain that evening the concert will be postponed and will be given on Thursday.

PINE RIVER IS VICTORIOUS

Proposition to Build $15,000 School at Pine River is Carried by 38 Majority

TOTAL OF 620 VOTES CAST

Proposition to Hold Next Annual Meeting at Pine River Carried 86 Votes Majority

Even special trains and scores of voters picked up enroute Saturday could not defeat Pine River and the north end of Cass county at the school election held Saturday at Pine River in school district No. 1, which virtually embraces almost the entire county. Pine River was victorious on both propositions submitted including the Pine River school and the next annual meeting.

So great was the crowd that the school house would not hold the gathering and an open air meeting was held in the school yard. Lawyers were in attendance and there was as much excitement brewing between the north and south ends of the district as there was at the time of the Northern Minnesota Development association meeting at Brainerd.

People came to town from the innermost recesses of the county, from settlements which boast of homes but no roads; from communities situated miles from railways. Most of the south end of the county traveled on the special train which left Staples Saturday morning and stopped enroute at every point.

A total of 620 votes was cast. On the proposition to authorize the building of a modern brick or concrete eight room school house in Pine River at a cost of $15,000 Pine River polled 329 votes and the opponents to the measure 291, Pine River winning by 38 votes.

On the proposition to hold the next annual meeting at Pine River, the town polled 353 votes and the opponents 267, Pine River winning by an increased majority of 86.

Resolutions that schools costing $6,000 each be erected at Remer and Federal Dam were revised and the appropriations were placed at $3,000 for each school. $1,000 was voted for another school house at some point in the district.

For the time being Pine River was almost overwhelmed by the inundation of voters and was taxed to provide accomodations for the sudden influx.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mocous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine case out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mocous surfaces.

LITTLE FALLS 5, BRAINERD 1

Dominick, of Little Falls, Was in Great Form, Striking Out 16 in Sunday's Game

With Dominick pitching the best ball of his career and his team mates playing good ball, Little Falls carried off high honors in a 5 to 1 score with Brainerd Sunday afternoon. A record breaking crowd was in attendance at the game which was the best of the year.

Dominick was in great form, striking out 16 of the locals. He passed but one man and was batted for 4 hits, a total of 5 bases. Loom, the first man up for Brainerd, hit out a single and things looked mighty bright for Brainerd. But Dominick knowing that he had to pitch hard to win, gathered his assortment of foolers together and retired the side without a run. In the third inning Paine knocked one out for a double and was brought in by a single by Templeton. After that Dominick pitched gilt edged ball, allowing but one hit, the remainder of the game. It was necessary for him to pitch great ball and he proved equal to the occasion.

Alderman, who did the twirling for Brainerd, was not in his usual form although five hits were all the Little Falls boys could get off his delivery. He passed six men and struck out five.

With the exception of the 4th and 8th innings, the Brainerd boys had Little Falls working hard to hold their own. The fact that the visitors never obtained an earned run goes to show how hard the semi-pros. had to battle for victory. It was not a victory in which the winners had the losers entirely at their mercy. It was a victory won on the merits of the game and one which the locals had for a while but later lost.

Paine, at first for Brainerd, had an off day, making three errors, one of which was excusable as Alderman threw him a difficult chance which Paine dropped. Roderick's errors were excusable as both were decidedly difficult. He caught a pretty game. Loom, Paine, Templeton and C. Bush were the lucky hitters while C. Bush, Trent and Kalland played a strong fielding game. Trent made two pretty catches of flies, which seemed like sure hits.

The local boys are not a bit disappointed over the defeat and will work harder than ever to win their games. When the fact, that the players are all home boys who have little opportunity to practice, is taken into consideration, Brainerd ought to feel proud of their nine when they play such a close game against players who are picked from the Twin Cities and Little Falls best players who are paid for their work. The Brainerd boys play for the love of the game and play well. Such a showing against Little Falls deserves creditable mention.

The Brainerd City band added interest to the occasion by their excellent playing. They kept up the locals' spirit by their brilliant playing and put life and enthusiasm into the game by the playing of beautiful popular tunes. Their playing received many complimentary remarks from the visitors.

The rooters were out in full force and were with the boys to the last. They are not discouraged over the showing of the team but are boosting the team on to victories in the games to come. They believe that the game was of conisderable value to the locals, as the weak points of the team were pointed out and could be strengthened.

The Little Falls nine is composed of a manly lot of young men, who are good ball players. Their long string of victories can be easily explained by their excellent playing. They had to play the best of ball to beat.

The local nine will play Wadena here next Sunday. This is another team with a paid battery. They have been playing excellent ball this season, having a large string of victories. A week from Sunday the locals will journey to St. Cloud on a special train. Another game has been scheduled with Little Falls for August 6th.

The score of Sunday's game was:

LITTLE FALLS.

PAID $25 FOR DRINK OF WHISKY

Adam Ara, Arrested By Conductor W. H. Denny for Drinking on Train, Puts up $25 Cash Bail

FORFEITS IT THIS MORNING

E. G. Williams, Who Was Shot in the Ear, Fails to Appear Against His Wife

It was a busy day in the municipal court this Monday, three cases of widely different nature being before Judge J. H. Warner.

Adam Ara, arrested for drinking whisky on a train, really paid $25 for his drink for he did not appear in court and forfeited his cash bail. Saturday evening Ara boarded the midnight passenger for Staples and pulled out a bottle of liquor.

"You must not drink that on the train," said Conductor W. H. Denny very politely but firmly. "There is a law against drinking on trains and we must see that it is enforced."

"Oh, what are you giving us," said Ara. "This is a free country and the constitution lets a man take a drink when and where he pleases." He was handed over to Officer Barney and later released on bail, which he forfeited when he read up on the new law and found out where he stood.

E. G. Williams, who was shot through the ear by his wife and had her arrested, failed to press his suit against the lady and the case was consequently dismissed.

A. T. Thompson was arrested by Deputy Game Warden W. H. Onstine for catching pike from Clearwater lake, the claim being made that it was a stocked lake. The case was dismissed as no evidence was put in showing it was a stocked lake.

Special by Phone to Dispatch —

Aitkin, Minn., July 17.—The Aitkin boys won their game with Hopkins Brothers ladies baseball team in the afternoon by the score of 6 to 0. In the evening, however, they were as badly beaten by the girls because the team did not have much practice in indoor baseball.

AMERICA'S FOOD SUPPLY IS BEST

Finest in the World, Says Government Investigator.

PLENTIFUL AND BALANCED.

This Country's Success Is the Result, Declares C. F. Langworthy, Chief of Nutrition Investigations—Food Supply of Prehistoric Man and Nations.

That America has the finest food supply of any country in the world and that the plentiful and well balanced ration is responsible for much of the success of the United States as a nation is the conclusion drawn by C. F. Langworthy, chief of the nutrition investigations, in a pamphlet issued by the department of agriculture.

Mr. Langworthy goes into the food supply of prehistoric man and of nations of which we know but little except through popular writings and states that many of the impressions that these writers give are erroneous. He says, for instance, that the idea that the Chinese and Japanese are nations of rice eaters is false. It is true that both these people eat large quantities of rice compared with western nations, but that it is merely their chief starchy food and that it would be just as accurate to refer to the United States as a nation of wheat eaters or to say that beans and brown bread were the exclusive diet in New England. He says it is surprising to see what a well balanced ration is common among all nations, though some take their food in one form and some in another.

The writer says that prehistoric man probably took his food from any source it could be obtained, just as the modern family is governed largely by circumstances and convenience in the makeup of its dietary. The early people who lived close to the water ate largely of shellfish and other sea foods, and those farther inland lived on game animals, birds and their eggs and such grains and fruits as grew wild.

Australian Bushmen Examples.

In the cave dwellings of ancient Europe there have been found charred and cracked marrow bones, and in the prehistoric lake dwellings of Europe have been found the grains from which were made the bread of that remote period. If the primitive people of the present day are taken to show how the earlier races lived, the Australian bushmen are an example of how seeds, fruits, insects and animals and roots are readily used.

Of the food used by the American Indians before they were modified by contact with the whites much information is available. It is known that they extensively cultivated grain, pumpkins, beans, maize and sunflowers, besides hunting and fishing. Animals and fish were extensively eaten, and large quantities of these were dried and smoked for the winter. Special arrangements were made to secure fat, according to the early chroniclers, and bear fat and other animal fats were collected, as well as oil from sunflower seed.

The diet of the Indians seems to have been extensive and well balanced. The remoter Indian tribes of Mexico show the same conditions today, modified somewhat by surroundings and circumstances.

Racial custom does not persist among human beings. It has been found among immigrants to the United States that while old people, as a rule, cling to food customs they brought with them, the second generation usually takes to the more varied diet of the modern community in which it lives.

Diets Suited to Climates.

Turning to the Eskimos, they are taken as the nearest representatives of glacial man on the earth today, and their diet, consisting largely of meat, fat and heat producing food, is suited to their environment, as is the easily obtained vegetable diet to the inhabitants of the tropics.

In speaking of the peasants of Europe and Ireland, Mr. Langworthy says that popular writers who speak of their "almost exclusive potato diet" fail, as a rule, to observe the skimmilk and bacon that go with the ration. In the same way, while rice takes the place of wheat in the diet of the Japanese and Chinese, they do not perform severe manual labor on a handful of rice, as has been frequently alleged. They always use a large variety of vegetables, fresh and preserved fruits, fish and beans and other legumes. Both races use as large amounts of pork and poultry as their means will allow.

Attention is called also to the fact that the amount of energy and heat forming food depends largely on the size of the person nourished. In this way studies of the dietary of twenty American professional men and a similar number of Japanese show that the Japanese get along with much fewer "calories" of energy making material. The fact was, however, that the Americans averaged 150 pounds in weight and the Japanese 105 pounds. When this difference in size was considered it brought the food figures much closer together.

The popular idea of the natives of India never eating meat is also said to be erroneous, as little account is taken of the large quantities of milk, butter and "ghee" they consume.

DEEDS THAT LIVE.

Each ray of light from a distant star has been traveling on through the ether for hundreds of years. Yet it still remains pure and strong enough to affect the negative plate of the astronomer's camera. So with a good deed. Set it going and who knows the end of it? Not the world of this century or the next, for its influence will travel on for ages to come.

STATISTICS SHOW A DECREASE IN SUICIDES.

Percentage In Western Cities Greater Than In the Eastern.

One out of every 5,000 persons living in the cities of this country last year committed suicide, or, to be exact, 19.7 persons out of every 100,000. These figures are based on statistics from 100 cities and are taken from an article by Frederick L. Hoffman in the Spectator. In the preceding year the rate was 21 out of every 100,000.

Although the data show that the percentage of suicides is far greater in large than in small cities, New York is a startling exception. In New York last year the rate was only 18.9 to the 100,000, whereas from 1900 to 1909 San Francisco averaged 52, nearly three times as many.

Mr. Hoffman finds that the western cities have heavier rates than the eastern and awards San Francisco the doubtful honor of leading all other cities in the percentage of suicides. This is strikingly brought out in statistics for the last year, which show that San Francisco had 42.2 suicides to every 100,000 persons, while Sacramento was second with 33.6. Oakland and Los Angeles were third and fourth respectively. And even San Diego was well in the first ten, giving California five cities out of that number.

A comparison of suicide statistics with those of business conditions and business failures leads to the conclusion that the two are closely related. When financial conditions are bad suicides are generally the heaviest. Thus in the panic year of 1907 and the following year when the effect of the depression was still widespread the number of suicides was exceptionally large. In 1908 the average was 21.8, the highest attained in twenty years, and the actual number of suicides in the cities upon which the figures are based was 4,582.

From available statistics in Germany it is found that the rate there for the year 1909 was 22.3, and it is also shown that the rate has slowly but surely increased. Particularly noticeable is the increase of suicides among women, the average in 1909 being 10.1 to the 100,000.

"The German data," says Mr. Hoffman, "would seem to warrant the conclusion that the general suicide rate of a well developed, commercially prosperous country reaches a maximum point which will rarely exceed 25 to the 100,000 of population."

In the area covered in the United States for the five years ended with 1908, which includes about 55 per cent of the total population, the suicide rate for men was 24.2 to the 100,000 and the rate for women 6.6 and for both sexes combined 16.1. These figures offer the conclusion that the suicide tendency among both men and women in this country is much less than in Germany.

The Savage's Proverbs.

The proverbs of savages are shrewd and pithy. The Basutos say, "The thief catches himself;" the Yorubus, "He who injures another injures himself;" the Wolofs, "Before healing others heal yourself." In Accra they say, "Nobody is twice a fool;" among the Ojji, "The moon does not grow full in a day;" "The poor man has no friends." A Pashto proverb says, "A feather does not stick without gum." Others are, "A crab does not bring forth a bird," "A razor cannot shave itself," "Cross the river before you abuse the crocodile," "Perseverance always triumphs," "The thread follows the needle," and "Preparation is better than afterthought."—Westminster Gazette.

Making Themselves Known.

"Persons who expect to receive money orders in a strange town take infinite precautions to identify themselves," said a postal clerk. "One way that particularly commends itself is for the stranger to call on the paying teller in the money order department before his own order arrives and present a bunch of correspondence showing pretty clearly who he is. He then explains that he is expecting a money order from a certain person. Can the clerk remember him when he presents it for payment? After that impressive introduction the clerk usually can remember, and when the order is presented he cashes it."—New York Sun.

Scientific Management.

The general manager of a great industry in passing through one of his shops was suddenly struck with the idea that a way might be found to utilize the daily tons of waste from timber and steel, says the Woman's World. Shortly afterward he employed a young chemist to enter the plant and devote his time to experiments with these chips and scraps and shavings. Although at work less than one year salvage totaling more than $500,000 has resulted from the scientist's investigations. A few years ago the business men held the student in contempt and ridiculed his "theories." Today they are largely depending upon him to earn their dividends.

Thackeray In France.

France might reckon Thackeray, along with Edward, the king of sunny memories, as the most Parisian of Britons, for truly did Titmarsh know and love the life of the boulevards, ebbing and flowing between the Bastile and the Bois, the cafes and the theaters, himself most aptly described by his own lines:

His 'and was free, his means was easy.
A finer, nobler gent than he
Ne'er drove around the Shons Elysee
Nor paced the Rue de Rivoli.

—Henry Watterson in Courier-Journal.

A Crisis.

Mrs. Highupp—What's the matter, dear?

Mrs. Blase—I'm sure I won't know how to take care of little Emma after next year. You see, she is seven now, and I never had a dog that lived over eight.—Puck.

Who Wins?

"Dear philosopher," writes a correspondent, "will you please settle a dispute for us? A and B make a wager as to which can 'shoot' the most rabbits. The contestants take different territories and hunt all day. At the time appointed they meet. A has no rabbits at all, but B has an animal which proves to be A's pet cat. Who wins?"

It is hard to decide this bet. In view of the fact that B gets not only A's cat, but his goat, we should say that A should buy the cove oysters.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HONEST WEIGHT AND MEASURES

A Campaign for a Square Deal in Weights and Measures Started by the State of Minnesota

A POUND SHOULD BE A POUND

Even if the Price Has to be Tilted. No Concentrated Move by Merchant or Farmer to Swindle

The Detroit Record has the following article on the new deal to be inaugurated by the state authorities, and it will bear reading:

Minnesota is starting on a campaign for a square deal in weights and measures. The state is now to have a department of weights and measures, and will have [illegible] to visit the various cities, and see that the scales of the merchants weigh correctly and that the measures are of lawful capacity.

Other states that have taken the lead in this movement have been astonished at the reports of the inspectors. The larger the city the less ounces in the pound and the less quarts in a bushel and the less pounds in a ton. The "poor ultimate consumer" has been paying for more than he gets in a great many instances.

If a man should get 2,000 pounds of coal for a ton he would probably be so surprised that he would be in danger of an attack of heart failure. But why should be not get a full ton when he pays the price? It is doubtful if any resident in Minnesota has received a full bushel of potatoes that he has purchased either from the farmer or the groceryman for many years. There is probably not a so-called bushel basket in the state that will hold a bushel.

Recently in New York City the inspectors confiscated a whole shipload of false weights and measures, and dumped them into the sea.

It is largely a matter of custom and indifference. Baskets, for instance, have been made about ten per cent short of a bushel. The groceryman accepts this standard and passes it along to his customers. Neither the farmer nor the merchant started out deliberately to swindle their patrons, but the short measure went, and no questions asked.

None of the berry boxes hold as much as they are advertised to hold, and the man who pays for a quart box of berries is fortunate if he gets within seventy-five per cent of it. So all along the line.

The honest way would be to weigh all vegetables. This is done when the farmers sells his potatoes to the shippers, and why not when he sells to the local merchants, and then the merchants should send his customer the right number of pounds when he buys a bushel of the same spuds.

All coal should be weighed by a city weigher, even if the purchaser has to pay for it—all wood measured by an official measurer—and if the present price is not enough boost it—but let's have a square deal.

Something has been done in this line of correction already by the general government. Any package of coffee, or other products, sold at the grocery stores, will be found to contain a full weight in addition to the weight of the package. The government sees that the manufacturer or wholesaler does this. For all local products the remedy must come from the state and the municipalities.

A few visits from state inspectors, a few fines and confiscations a little publicity, in a short time the householders will be getting the quantity he paid for—and that may help reduce the cost of living.

Interesting Expedition.

One of the most interesting scientific expeditions to be undertaken during the present summer is that of Dr. L. Siegert, the German geologist, who will shortly undertake to cross the Libyan desert in an airship. He expects, with the aid of the prevailing winds, to make the journey from the Mediterranean to the Nile in about thirty hours, passing over a region that is at present almost entirely unknown to geographers.

Why He Paled.

Wife—Wretch! Show me that letter. Husband—What letter? Wife—That one in your hand. It's from a woman. I can see by the writing, and you turned pale when you saw it. Husband—Yes; here it is. It's your dressmaker's bill.—New York Mail.

Honest Medicines Versus Fakes

President Taft's recent message suggesting an amendment to the Pure Food and Drugs law in its relation to Prepared Medicines, does not refer to such standard medicines as Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and Foley Kidney Pills, both of which are true medicines carefully compounded of ingredients whose medicinal qualities are recognized by the medical profession itself as the best known remedial agents for the diseases they are intended to counteract. For over three decades Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been a standard remedy for coughs, colds and affections of the throat, chest and lungs for children and for grown persons, and it retains todays its pre-eminence above all other preparations of its kind. Foley Kidney Pills are equally effective and meritorious. For sale by all druggists. mwf

CIRCUS COMING AUG. 5

When we come to consider features which have contributed to the remarkable history of great amusement enterprises, we cannot possibly [illegible] circus and its management.

For years this remarkable institution has had one of the most uphill and drastic fights ever visited upon any aggregation endeavoring to gain a foothold. But last season they commenced a campaign which took for its text the doctrine of popular prices, and although most of the old time circus people voiced their opinion that they could not possibly succeed, it is now admitted that they came home at the close of the regular season with more money in their treasury than any other attraction in the same line of business.

"People demand popular prices to-representing the proprietors of the day," said Mr. Haines, who was here big show. "We are living in an era when the average man or woman can weigh the value of what is offered to them almost as well as those who are most intimately connected with the business, and it was simply a proposition with our people to give them what they wanted. We tried the experiment and found that we were correct.

"The price of 25 cents for general admission has come to stay so far as the Sells-Floto circus is concerned. I do not know what other shows intend doing, because even yet, there are very few believers in our methods. It is hard to convince the average man in the show business that it is possible to make any money at that price when one has to charge $3,000 on the debit side of the ledger for each day's performance. Last year we were eminently successful and we expect history to repeat itself through the coming season.

"The Sells-Floto Circus will reach here on the 5th day of August and again announces many novel features such as have never been seen in public before. Our parade, I think, will convince the doubters as to the quality of the entertainment we have to [illegible] Our patrons can rest assured that our performance will be the best they have ever seen us give. I think we have always tried to keep faith with our public. Our object is to grow in the affections of the people and the only way we can do that is by endeavoring to give full values in every way.
